Agree, and find the directness refreshing. The next objections, to Gross and Hartwell, are less specific and more mysterious sounding.

Do you agree with this?

CropLife America recommends that Dr. Deborah Cory-Slechta not be selected to serve on the FIFRA SAP. Dr. Cory-Slechta generally projects an anti-pesticide advocacy through her research program. Her research interpretations and views inappropriately identify causal effects without quality data, between pesticides and various diseases, notably neurodevelopmental diseases including Parkinson's.

I think it works.

Thanks
Dan

All,

Please review the attached draft comment on SAP nominees. I believe there were reservations on supporting a nomination of Steve Klasek.

RE: Request for comments on the attached draft CLA comment by Thursday, COB.

Thanks for your input on member responses to the FIFRA SAP nominees. I have cut and pasted then re-worded text as our justification for support, and crafted way to express non-support of three individuals.

Botham, Philip
Exhibit_64
6/17/2020

The Ask

- 1- You may know those individuals so pls help with justification.
- 2- Can CLA endorse a current member of SAP to chair it? Do you know the other 6 members remaining? Otherwise I suggest we NOT comment on a suitable new chair of the SAP.
- 3- One nominee was questioned by FMC but highly supported by Bayer so I kept him! (Dr. Goby Sohal).
- 4- Steph, can you submit for me on Friday morning about 11 am ET??

Also attached thanks to Ray are 1) our 2009 comment; and 2) the 2009 FR request.

I only received the 5 comments that I have already forwarded to you.

Attached are the comments we filed on SAP nominations from last year. I have also attached the FR notice from last year. From the seven nominees in that FR notice, only Gerald LeBlanc appears on the current list of SAP members (see <http://www.epa.gov/ncpd/ol/sap/sapmembers.htm>), though they were to fill two vacancies. I don't track the SAP membership close enough to know if they persuaded one of last year's retiring members to stay on longer.

The docket was uncooperative on Friday evening, so I had to send the comments in by email, after a telephone discussion with the docket support staff. Jay, Isl, and Doug were blind copied on the message below. Both of the people below have acknowledged receipt of the comments.
